Serving the Lord in Hungary

February 2023

Dear Supporters,

I went to Ukraine earlier this week to help the European Initiative (EI). We are giving generators to public schools and kindergartens. We arrived when missiles were in the air and the children were down in the bomb shelter with the staff. The bomb shelter was built where the Children's play ground was. Half the children are at another bomb shelter in a church basement across the street. Everything is perfectly normal until it's not. That's the surreal part.

This structure is one of four being built by the young men/reservists attending the Bible school becoming missionaries to their own country. The idea is building portable structures to be used at the school there in Western Ukraine for IDP internally displaced people. This need is huge and we encountered many everywhere we went. The missionaries gain skills that will be vital after the war. The structures will eventually be relocated to places needing a preacher who can use the building to start a church and build a community. This vision is great but no one is experienced nor do they have much in the way of equipment. But they are up early and faithful worker understanding they could be called up at any time.

It took over four hours at the border today for no apparent reason. But I'm home in Budapest with my girls. Tomorrow we'll host a lovely family of Syrian's. They are Muslim and have been granted sanctuary by Hungary. We met them before Christmas and have had a number of discussions. They have no home in Syria anymore. Life isn't easy here either and four months ago they lost their four month old child to illness. Hicmet and Rashua are their names they have a three year old son Ros. Please pray for the Spirit of God to draw them to Himself.

Thank you for your prayers,
